

Post-Doctoral Residency (Psy.D.)

General Description

The Post-Doctoral Resident is a full-time position. The Post-Doctoral Resident is a member of the clinical training team, and participates in the coordination and execution of intern and extern training and professional development activities. The Post-Doctoral Resident also carries a clinical caseload, and receives weekly supervision and professional development by a Licensed Clinical Psychologist.

Duties Include (but are not limited to):

- Provide clinical services in the form of individual psychotherapy, group psychotherapy, psychological assessment, and/or crisis management consistent with the individual training goals and plan as developed and negotiated with the Director of Training.
- Maintain appropriate documentation for clinical and training activities through electronic health record and clinical activity tracking systems.
- Conduct training and orientation activities for new interns and externs.
- Provide a one-hour training seminar and/or group supervision weekly to the externs as well as a one-hour professional training/self-care weekly to interns.
- Provide on-site supervisory coverage and partnership relationship management to assigned community partner site(s).
- Oversee interns on their assigned psychological batteries, if needed.
- Attend and participate in individual supervision with the Director of Training.

The Post-Doctoral Resident position is a full time (40 hours/week) one-year position with an annual compensation of $40,000. Benefits include all university holidays, 10 sick days (80 hours), and 10 vacation days (80 hours). Start date is generally September 1st, or a later negotiated date. This position has the potential to turn into a full-time psychologist position if a position is open at the completion of the post-doctoral residency.
